FOUR INFLUENZA CASES REPORTED

Four cases of influenza have been reported to the health board by Dr. A. A. Stern today. As far as known these are the first cases to develop in the city since the recent epidemic. The weather conditions, according to local physicians, are favorable for the spread of the disease.

fluenza, and those who have not had it should use every precaution to keep their feet dry and avoid catching cold.

The Arch of Triumph was brilliant with color.

The party did not pass beneath the Arch of Triumph, but skirted it, passing a plaza packed with madly yelling humanity. At this point a number of Socialist organizations had gathered en masse. building a band from the Eighth American division crashed out the national anthem. The mansard roof of this building was one mass of olive drab and the windows were filled with the heads of wildly shouting doughboys.

Thence the procession turned into Champs Elysees, which the Germans had tried to copy with their Unter den Linden in Berlin. This famous thoroughfare is lined with fashionable clubs and elaborate dwellings. All were decked out with red, white and blue bunting and the flags of the Allied nations and every window bore its quota of smiling, excited faces. The resourceful doughboys who did not own any residences in Champs Elysees nor belonged to any club managed to see all that was going on by climbing lamp posts and clambering into the tops of the stately shade trees lining the streets.

It looked as though all the step ladders and chairs in Paris had been mobilized along the streets through which the procession passed, but especially in Champs Elysees. Those that could not get a place in the first rank of spectators stood upon all sorts of elevations to get a peep over the heads of those in front.

At the junction of Champs Elysees and Avenue Alma, where American army headquarters in Paris is located, the F. M. C. A. girls had been invited to points of vantage to watch the passing of the notables. They were massed at the windows waving flags and their excitement grew beyond all bounds when the carriage containing Mrs. Wilson passed by. Outside of headquarters a jazz band was playing with might and main.

CROWDS GREET PRESIDENT WILSON

In newspapers and on placards until everyone was familiar with it.

While the men turned to the president the majority of the French women had eyes only for Mrs. Wilson. The practiced feminine eyes took in at a flash her attire and comments flew back and forth upon her hat, fur, coat and coiffure.

A common remark was: "She is as tall as Queen Elizabeth."

Queen Elizabeth of Belgium had recently visited Paris and had ridden through the streets just as President and Mrs. Wilson did today.

The residence of Prince Murat was all in readiness when the party arrived. President and Mrs. Wilson will live in this sumptuous mansion during their stay in Paris.

The president was keenly interested in all he saw on the ride through the city. He eyed with especial interest the horizon blue clad police in Boulevard Malesherbes, near Trinity church. These troops were lining the street on both sides standing at stiff attention as the carriages swung past them. They were historic figures, for they had been engaged in the last terrific battle which ended the war, when General Pershing's gallant army was smashing its way up the Meuse. These French were engaged jointly in the same operation, attacking the Germans just west of the Argonne.

The sidewalks near Rue Courcelles and Rue Moncouleu where the Murat residence is located, were dense with cheering multitudes. As the carriages turned to enter the grounds little girls standing by the driveway tossed flowers before the horses' feet.

A retinue of servants was lined up when the President and Mrs. Wilson alighted, paying their respects to the distinguished guests.

While the President and Mrs. Wilson were being shown to their respective suites and the other members of the household were being assigned to their quarters the crowd outside the grounds of the residence was growing in numbers and the cheering was incessant. There were many American soldiers and sailors in the press.

The presidential baggage had preceded the guests and Mr. and Mrs. Wilson found their things all unpacked and ready for them.

Georgette, the maid of Princess Murat, was already in Mrs. Wilson's suite, ready to attend to her wants.

The trip from Brest to Paris was made without incident. The population all along the route knew of the president's coming and was deeply interested. At every station crowds of men and women and children gathered and waited through the night for the coming of the special train. They hoped against hope that they might be able to get a glimpse of the famous American.

At road crossings little knots of villagers had gathered and hovered over fires to keep warm while waiting for the train. As the special rolled slowly through the night sudden bursts of cheers came out of the darkness.

Seldom has there been such a procession of notables as passed through the streets of this city today. It embraced the heads of two great republics, diplomats, ministers and army and navy officers of high rank.

Following President Wilson and President Poincaré in the first carriage.

The whole city turned this into a fête day. A general holiday had been proclaimed and many of the shops were closed in order to give the employees ample time to celebrate. There was a historic side to the occasion as well as a spectacular one. This was the first time that a president of the United States had ever visited Paris while in office and the city, beneath its cloak of gaiety recognized the serious side.

President and Mrs. Wilson plan to spend Sunday privately, recuperating from their long trip. On Monday the president will be received at the Hotel de Ville, which will end the official ceremonies of his welcome.

The president's personal wants, while living at the Murat mansion, will be attended to by Jacques, personal valet to Prince Murat.

The grounds of the great residence are patrolled by armed guards and French secret police scattered themselves in the upper floors of apartment houses overlooking the "Paris White House."

Nearby were American secret service agents and "plain clothes" men.

Their Needs.

Said the facetious fellow: "What a hungry man wants is a regular meal. What the dyspeptic requires is a meal, regular."

PORT JERVIS FIVE HAVE AUTO UPSET

The Basketball Team Were on Way to Kingston to Play High School When Near Wawarsing Auto Went Over Bank—One Broken Collar Bone.

While the Port Jervis High School basketball team were on their way to Kingston Friday afternoon to play the local high school five the auto in which they were riding went over an embankment on a turn at the bottom of a hill near Wawarsing, hurling the athletes out. From what could be learned the most serious injury was a broken collar bone. The other players were badly shaken up and bruised.

After taking stock of the condition of the team after the accident they decided to postpone the game and called up the high school players at 7:30 that evening and informed them of the accident, and that they would be unable to play.

A game was immediately arranged with the Y. M. C. A. Seniors, and staged that evening, resulting in a score of 24 to 14 in favor of the Y. M. C. A.

The high school players were Becker, A. Smith, Meeker, Whitaker, Bishop, McAndrew and Barmann, while the Y. M. C. A. players were Dolson, Wheeler, Murray, Johnson, S. Smith and Williams.

Office of True Friend.

To know that you have a friend concerned in your struggle robs it of half its hardness. Disappointments that would assume bitter proportions lose their edge in the friend's smile. He helps us see that matters might have been worse. Emerson is never tired of extolling the merits of the nurse of his childhood who always helped him belittle his petty hurts by being glad they were not much more painful. And that's the office of the sincere friend. His office is to bring out our best and make us manly.

What She Was Looking For.

One of the many excellent stories told by Lady Jenson in her "Notes of a Nomad" concerns her godfather. "He came often to our house," writes the authoress, "having an obvious admiration for the pretty young aunt who lived with us. One day he called as usual and I at once climbed on his knees and stared searchingly into his clear, brown eyes. 'What's the matter, child?' said he, 'and what are you looking at?' 'Mamma said to papa,' quoth I, 'that you had a wife in your eye and I'm looking to see if I can find her.'"

Toured in History.

The term Teuton is of Latin origin. In ancient times the part of Europe now embraced in Germany was called Germania, and one of the principal tribes of the country was called by the civilized Romans Teutons, just as we speak of the Apache Indian. Being a fierce and warlike people they gave the Romans a great deal of trouble, and as they were the dominant tribe of that region the name of Teutons gradually came to be applied to all the people occupying what was called Germania. It has survived in the form of Teutons.

Hugo's Description of Rhine.

The Rhine is a stream of varied aspects. Victor Hugo, who wrote what was perhaps the finest article ever written about it, said: "The Rhine is unique; it combines the qualities of every river. Like the Rhone it is rapid; broad, like the Loire; encased, like the Meuse; serpentine, like the Seine; limpid and green, like the Somme; historical, like the Tiber; royal, like the Danube; mysterious, like the Nile; spangled with gold, like an American river; and, like a river of Asia, abounding with phantoms and fables."

Batavia Attractive City.

Batavia is a city divided into two parts—Wettersiden, or the modern Batavia, and Benedenstadt, or Old Batavia. In the days of Batavia's prime, Old Batavia was known as the "Queen of the East," or, more appropriately, as the "White Man's Grave." Wettersiden is the section of Batavia in which the European residences, government buildings, shops and stores are located. It is a very attractive city, with wide streets, many garden features, good-looking buildings, spacious lawns and modern improvements.

FICTION IN DEMAND BY WOUNDED SOLDIERS

Western Tales With a Dash of Romance are the Favorites—Love Stories With Happy Endings Wanted.

Fiction and the lighter forms of reading play a large part in the daily lives of the men in hospitals, every librarian of the A. L. A. War Service reports. Stories of adventure cannot be supplied in sufficient number. The men cannot get enough of Zane Grey, Rex Beach, Jack London, E. Phillips Oppenheim and Kipling. The best novel is a western story with a dash of romance.

"Every man will read a love story, but he honest prefers the wholesome sort," says the librarian at one of the largest hospitals. "I've quite revised my idea of the attitude of man toward sentimental reading."

On a visit of the librarian to the wards, one man he tentatively selected Stevenson's "Treasure Island" from an armful of books presented for his inspection. "Is it a love story," he asked, and handed it back when given a negative answer. "Sure, I want a love story," he affirmed. "I've got a girl."

He liked the looks of Mary Johnson's "Audrey," but was warned that though emphatically a love story the novel had not a "happy ending." That gave him pause, but he finally chose "Audrey."

"I can stand the ending," he said. Unhappy endings have been known to cause lasting depression in military hospitals.

In the assortment of fiction and stories of personal war experiences, carried by the librarian on the same ward visit, were a dictionary, a higher algebra and trigonometry, a plain and solid geometry, and a book on mechanics, each of them going in response to a special request of the occupant of some bed. An Italian in one of the wards eyed the collection and drew out the trigonometry. "Bill, you don't want that book," volunteered his bed neighbor to the left. "That's higher mathematics, you can't read that. Better give him a novel."

Bill looked inside the trigonometry and quite apparently found it no more intelligible than Chinese. Still, he was reluctant to surrender it for a novel in an easy style. Probably the title had appealed to the Latin in him, but obviously he wanted to hang on to it because it had real substance. He brightened with delight when the librarian told him she now was equipped to supply him with Italian books.

All the men like detective stories. A casual evening visit to the extreme psychopathic ward brought requests for detective fiction from three white and two negro patients.

There are hundreds of thousands of books, unused, on the shelves of American homes, that are just the books the tens of thousands of wounded men in the Army hospitals need now. Every public library is a receiving station for Library War Service. Books taken or sent to the library will get into the soldiers' hands promptly.

Perfect Engineering Feat.
 At Omaha, Neb., a brick chimney 202 feet high and weighing 237 tons was made to fall exactly where the engineer who performed the feat wanted it to fall, between two buildings, without marring either one of them. The bricks on one side of the base of the chimney were removed and replaced with hardwood timbers, which were burned.

Born Before His Mother.
 A celebrated actress invariably claimed to be eighteen years younger than she really was. She was called to the witness stand one day, and even there she did not break her rule. It happened that her son was called immediately afterward, and on being asked his age he replied: "Six months older than my mother."—Boston Transcript.

Not So Deep.

K. H. S. LOSES TO PICKED TEAM, 14-23

Friday night another game of basketball was staged in the gymnasium when the Varsity played a picked team from the Y. M. C. A. They were to play Port Jervis High School, but the automobile in which they were riding skidded over an embankment and nearly everyone of the players were injured. One of the boys sustained a broken shoulder. However, the audience was treated to a fast game. The high school played faster than before and had a better eye for the basket, which is shown by the score.

A. Smith scored the most points for the high school with Becker following him closely. The team played better than previously. "Cowboy" Meeker, "Whitey" Whittaker and "B" Bishop played excellent, being into the thick of the fray all the time. Johnson again scored the highest for the visitors. The rest of the team scored about the same number of individual points. The visitors had two new members with them, being "Slivers" Murray and Williams. At the end of the first half the score was 10 to 2 in favor of the picked team. The score was as follows:

K. H. S.	Fields	Points	Total
Becker, rf.	2	0	4

Next Friday night the Midgets and the Varsity teams will journey to Saugerties to defeat the High School teams at that place.

The Junior Class is planning a big dance to be given on Friday evening, January 3, in the gymnasium. It is to be the first late dance of the season, commencing at 8 o'clock and closing at 1 o'clock. Shurtz's orchestra has been secured for the occasion. All high school students and members of the high school alumni are asked to remember this date, as the juniors wish to show the seniors how to run a good dance. Meet me at the door with your lady friend and 75 cents in U. S. money.

At Presbyterian Vespers.

At the five o'clock vesper service tomorrow at the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. Cady will show lantern slides, illustrating places of interest to Bible students; scenes in Damascus, the Lebanon Mountains, ancient Palmyra, Hamath and Aleppo will make vivid important points recently taken from the Turks, and placed under Christian rule. The service closes at six.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. James Wells wishes to extend her sincere thanks to kind neighbors and friends and to those who sent flowers during the illness and death of her husband.—Advertisement.

Leon Lockwood.

A former resident of this city, is reported wounded September 19 in action in France.

John J. McCabe of 294 Wall street left town last night after a fourteen days' furlough to join his company in the Naval Militia, at Hampton Roads, Virginia.

Mrs. Charles Lyne of No. 156 Pine street received word Friday that her son, Private Harold I. Lyne, Ambulance Corps 37, Sanitary Train, had arrived safely from overseas. He is now stationed in New York city.

Electrician Raymond A. Cole, who enlisted in the navy in 1917, and was stationed at New London, Conn., has been honorably discharged and is at the home of his parents, Mr and Mrs Clarence Cole, Ulster Park, for a short stay.

Robert E. Keefe, aviator, who was injured in a fall while making a flight near the front in France September 18, is still confined in Base Hospital No. 9, at Chateauxroux, Indre, France, and is slowly improving. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Keefe of Washington avenue.

Garbarino Gives the Tree.

Joseph Garbarino, the local fruit dealer on Broadway, has again offered to furnish the large Christmas tree for the entertainment at the Tuberculous Camp this year. Upon reading of the entertainment to be given to the patients at Christmas, Mr. Garbarino immediately got in touch with the promoters and offered a free tree, as has been his custom for the last five years. The committee in charge are very grateful to Mr. Garbarino for his interest in this work.

STEEP ROCKS ICE HOUSE DESTROYED

Spectacular Fire Illuminated Sky for Miles Late Friday Afternoon—

Origin of Fire Unknown—Loss Estimated at Over $40,000.

Fire of an unknown origin totally destroyed the big Steep Rocks ice house, and wiped out two small dwelling houses nearby in a spectacular blaze that illuminated the sky for miles shortly after 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The big ice house was known as the Terry Brothers ice house, and was leased by Burns Brothers. Fire Chief Chipp this morning stated that in his opinion the loss would exceed $40,000. He said that there was some insurance carried but he had been unable to secure the figures as yet.

With the sky a fiery red from the blazing structure an alarm was turned in from Box 15, at North street and Delaware avenue, to which the Central fire truck, Weiner hose and Cordts hose responded. Lack of water to fight the fire made it impossible to save the ice house or the two vacant dwelling houses nearby which were wiped out. The fire department pumped water from the river and did everything possible to save adjoining property remaining on the job all night.

The big ice house was practically three houses in one, as two additions had been built to the original building. Chief Chipp when questioned as to whether there was any ice in the building at the time of the fire stated that two of the large rooms were filled.

Gypsy Tribes.

In Poland the gypsy tribes are called Zingani; in Italy, Zingari; in Spain, Gitanos; in France, Bohemians; in Germany, Zigeuner. The Persians, it is stated, apply to them a name meaning "Black Indians." Their most ancient name is that of Sinte, which is supposed to be connected with Sind, the native name for the Indus.

Hungerford in England.

Edward Hungerford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hungerford of the Hotel, has gone to England on a mission connected with Red Cross work. A cable dispatch received this morning announces Mr. Hungerford's safe arrival at Liverpool.

How Long Will It Last?

That's just another way of asking "How good is your battery insulation?"

For no battery is any better than its insulation.

There's no doubt about it; Insulation is one of the things that makes the Willard a longer lived, better battery.

Every piece of Insulation that goes into any Willard Battery has those features so necessary to long battery life—that is, sound material; thorough workmanship; exacting tests and careful inspections.

ONE MONTH'S PAY FOR SOLDIERS

To be Given Them With Transportation Allowance When Finally Discharged in Demobilization Camp.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 14.—Soldiers being discharged from camp and returning to their homes are to be given one month's pay plus transportation allowance of three and one-half cents a mile from the demobilization point to their home town, the State Defense Council was advised today. Their railroad tickets will cost them two cents a mile by the most direct route home.

Washington officials have asked that this information be given the widest publicity in order to allay uncertainty as to arrangements for transporting soldiers when they are discharged from government service. Demobilization will be from the nearest army camp to the home section of the majority of men in each unit, it is announced.

Everything that can be done to get soldiers back home in comfort, and that their jobs if they are not taken back in the jobs they left to go to war, is being done. Bureaus for returning soldiers are being formed at each army camp, and similar bureaus are being created in each city and village under the direction of the United States Employment Service, with the cooperation of the New York State Industrial Commission.

Soldiers who return and are without jobs should register at the nearest their home, and jobs will be secured for them.

RED CROSS WEEK BEGINS MONDAY

Churches Expected to Aid in Arranging Interest—Mass Meeting Monday Evening at Y. M. C. A. Following Rally of Workers.

Kingston churches have once more responded heartily to the call of the American Red Cross.

Throughout the city tomorrow the glad yet solemn note of the Red Cross Christmas will predominate. Everywhere among the churches of the city there will be told the story of how the American Red Cross has been serving God through its service to man.

Red Cross Sunday will open a week which will be Red Cross week, even more than has any campaign week of earlier Red Cross drives. For now, the story of the Red Cross on the battle field has been completed and may be appreciated as never before.

And now, too, the work of the Red Cross with our wounded and disabled soldiers and sailors, and with soldiers' families, and in building civilization anew is taking definite and complete shape and the great need for the reconstruction service of the "Greatest Mother" is coming home to all of us.

The mass meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Monday at 8 p. m. will be given over to the unfolding through the words of a most gifted speaker and the reproduction on the screen through the official Red Cross film of the history of the American Red Cross in the world war.

The campaign workers' dinner at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium at 6:30 will bring the first reports of the house to house canvass and complete reports of the industrial canvass.

And how Mr. Dodge's "Boys" will "roar" when the good news from the factories and battlefields is reported. And there will surely be a good deal more, too, at the ward reports.

Rarely has Kingston had a more welcome guest than Sergeant White of the Australian Army, who worked so hard and spoke so well in the industrial canvass. Sergeant White enjoyed his work here so much that he deeply regretted that the demands of other cities for his services made it impossible for him to stay in Kingston and Ulster county throughout the entire Red Cross campaign.

Heavy Fog Delayed Poughkeepsie.

There was a very heavy fog on the Hudson river today. The steamer Poughkeepsie of the Central Hudson line due here at 6 o'clock this morning had not berthed at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Last reports were that she was tied up at Poughkeepsie and would leave there about 2 o'clock. She was delayed by the fog and also by the fact that she carried a very heavy cargo of freight.

XMAS BELLS RINGING AT VAN WAGENEN'S

They Peel Forth Glad Tidings From the Great Storehouse of Santa Claus—Crowds of Shoppers Increasing Day by Day—Gift Things of True Worth and Excellence at Small Cost.

The big, popular Van Wageningen store is pulsating with Christmas cheer and holiday service from basement to roof, radiating with an assemblage of gift-things that gives it the appearance of a veritable fairyland.

During the whole year, Van Wageningen's has been the shoppers' realm of economy, and today it emphasizes its helpfulness with an unlimited field for gift-suggestions at prices that touch the purse with a shadow.

Like hand-savings on articles that are typical of the very spirit and purpose of the Christmas season—more varied in assortment and more entrancing in loveliness than ever before.

Van Wageningen's holds its special place in this community because of the thousands of friends it has made and keeps. The management realizes that to make friends a store must "make good" at all times. As the Christmas season draws nearer, it is well to remember these truths and to depend upon a store like this one that is known to be dependable.

A Freeman representative who visited Van Wageningen's today realized that holiday shopping has begun in earnest. There is a Yuletide atmosphere pervading every nook and corner of the establishment. A freshness and a special charm about the Christmas merchandise was visible on every article displayed—and these displays are so enticing that one cannot fail to absorb the "Shop now—don't wait" spirit of the place.

Mr. Mac Fadden, president of the firm, told the writer that the principal ambition of the establishment, more so this year than at any other time, was to make every man and woman in Kingston feel that this is his or her Christmas store—that the well-stocked place is capable of meeting the demands of all, and giving absolutely perfect gift satisfaction to every patron, old or young, big or little. He also suggested that those who like to shop leisurely and want to go into the merits of everything critically, should come in now and go over the entire display and then have their selections "tagged" and put away until they request them to be delivered. Thus early shoppers get absolutely best choice.

But it is in toyland that much of the interest centers. This department is located in the basement, ready with thousands of things to charm the children. It's a regular Santa Claus land down there and mothers bring the little folks here for a happy time among the toys and carefully note which things most appeal to the youngster's fancy. While turning from Franklin street into Clinton avenue Friday noon, one of the cars of Elting Longyear, the Broadway plumber, struck a Ford car owned by John Millard, slightly damaging it. The occupants of both cars were uninjured.

Red Cross headquarters this morning sent twelve large cases containing comfort kits, hospital garments, and other articles of the kind to the New York office for distribution where most needed.

Charles H. O'Connor, treasurer of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce, was elected a director at the annual session of the Federated Chambers of Commerce of the Hudson Valley held at Yonkers. The local Chamber of Commerce was represented at the session by Mr. O'Connor and Secretary Sydney Hudson. George E. McCoy of Peekskill was re-elected president.

C. E. PLANNING WORK FOR 1919

Friday evening the presidents of the various Christian Endeavor Societies in the Kingston Local Union of Christian Endeavor, met at the Y. M. C. A. and made plans for the annual session to be held the fore part of 1919 in the Reformed Church of the Comforter. A nominating committee was appointed and also a committee to arrange the program for the annual session. The date will be announced later.

The delegates present also talked over plans for the holding of the Tri-County Convention, which is to be held in Kingston early in the spring of next year.

Plans for carrying on an active work next year were also discussed and the meeting was a most enthusiastic one.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Paycock J. Cahill, one of the best known railroad men in this vicinity, died at his home, 48 Cedar street, this morning following a short illness of pneumonia. Mr. Cahill for a number of years was connected with the West Shore Railroad in the capacity of conductor and was one of the best known railroad men between New York and Albany. He has a host of friends who will be deeply shocked at his sudden death.
